EDITORIAL COMMENT

It is with pleasure I present the 18th edition (number 1) of the Journal of Science Education(JOSE), a publication of the School of Secondary Education(Science), Federal College of Education, Abeokuta to our numerous readers in academia who love to acquire new information on current issues and research findings in the fields of Science and Sciences Education.

This edition is highly informative, it contains quality articles carefully selected across the field of Pure Sciences, Applied Science, Health Education Biology Education, Mathematics Education, Computer Science Education, Physics Education, Chemistry Education, physical science, Agricultural Education and other related fields.

Current national and global issues, strategies and prospects of teaching and learning were discussed extensively. It is therefore, hoped that ideas and recommendations presented in this edition would bring about development of innovative and creative thinking skills capable of transforming science Education and the nation's educational system at large.

The members of the Editorial Board are highly appreciated for their efforts in ensuring successful publication of this edition. Finally I strongly recommend this publication to Teachers, Researchers, Educators, Educationist, Students and all lovers of the product of scholarship.
