

YAHOO

~~~Ogechukwu Ngene

We applaud them
We celebrate them
We frown when they are criticized

Their narrative; simply put—
Restoration of forefathers' wealth

Sweet yet dumb
Started as thieves
Now blood thirsty

In a bid to sustain and build more
They tear bodies in pieces
Incapacitation looms—

Destruction aflame
walls of griefs falling bit by bit

Men wailing in suicidal force Without comfort to grab of destruction caused on built wealth for years

No matter the sugarcoating
You are a THIEF

In case you've forgotten
THIEVES take what isn't theirs

Hey, you, you can drop it all today
You can disrupt your quest for greed
And embrace life the right way

~~~Ogechukwu Ngene is a passionate poet. She graduated from the Department of English Language and Literature, Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Awka, Anambra State, Nigeria. Email Id:ngene.ob@gmail.com